The Reader's Review

"Little Blue Truck" Morning at the Library

The famous Little Blue Truck came to our Library the morning of Tuesday, February 6th to visit and entertain our Storytime toddlers and their grown-ups. The Program Room was full as Mrs. B read a "Little Blue Truck" story that was all about friendship and kindness and the value of teamwork. The kids all colored their own little trucks and had a chance to sit on the floor and play in a Little Blue Truck town. There was also a great puppet show. Miss Nancy spoke for all the little characters.

KIDS' BOOK CLUB

Come Join One of Our Book Groups

Our Library offers a variety of book groups for young people who would like to join fellow readers and venture into a new story and then have a chance to share their opinions in discussions with the other members of the group. Our groups include Hooked on Books, Just You and Me, and Food 4 Thought. All of our book groups meet on a monthly basis. Call us for details and dates. New members are always welcome.

5 Call the Library for details on any program, (724)758-6458.

We're Still Calling All Adult Readers!!

Come join one of our monthly book groups!

Next month's newsletter will feature our adult book groups. Look for pictures and co-our members' comments telling you why they enjoy participating. Our library offers four adult book groups for all you readers out there who would like to read a good book and then discuss it with like-minded friends. All four groups meet in the Library Program Room and three of them also meet via Zoom for any participants who prefer to attend online.

Each group meets once a month, and participants can choose to join our classic readers and either or both of our two other groups that read more contemporary selections. Our Twenty Something group is designed for the younger crowd. The discussions in all of the groups are always lively and fun.

If you have not been attending or would like to join one of our groups, please call the Library at (724)758-6458 or stop in and talk with one of our staff. New members are always welcome.
